The elegantly appointed assisted center features 44 contemporary designed one- and two-bedroom apartment homes, setting the standard for new assisted living communities in the Valley.

“Desert Willow provides high quality care to its residents in a serene surrounding that meets health needs and supports personal goals and aspirations,” said Nancy Jameson, director of admissions of Desert Willow.

Desert Willow is available to residents living at Sagewood and the public living outside of the retirement community. The assisted living neighborhood offers an attractive single-level monthly pricing that is all-inclusive of benefits, providing greater value and planning for one’s future with predictable costs.
